

About to board the A380 from Sydney to London Heathrow.

A quick fuel stop in Singapore before the final leg. A380 is remarkably quiet, especially on takeoff. Quite comfortable too, especially having an exit seat to stretch out the legs.

After 32 hours of straight through travel, spent an hour and a half in the queues at Heathrow passport control ☹️, the Olympics crowds might be interesting!

Great to finally be back with the family, ready for a great adventure ahead.